Imagine the romance and splendor of securing the blessings of your vows with friends and family surrounded by stunning stained glass, soaring arches, classic chandeliers, and warm woods. Our neo-gothic sanctuary at University Temple offers its elegant and traditional setting for weddings and other ceremonies of blessing for committed relationships. The sanctuary and its balcony can accommodate over five hundred guests. We also offer the option of a smaller and earthy chapel for up to one hundred fifty guests. Each venue has both an organ and a piano.

Also available are two lovely reception areas for use with the caterer of your choice. The Narthex is a large open space just outside the sanctuary, and Preston Parlor is an inviting space enclosed in French doors and a wall of windows. A full and spacious kitchen is located off the Parlor with entries on either end.

Since the church is located directly across the street from the west entrances to the University of Washington, there are many beautiful outdoor options for your wedding party photographs. Parking is also available on the campus.

At an additional cost, our pastor is available for wedding preparation and celebration for couples who are already connected with University Temple, or who are interested in participating in the congregation. This includes co-leadership of interfaith services when desired. At least two preparation sessions are required in addition to rehearsal. Couples who want to work with their own pastor are welcome to do so. We also have a list of Christian clergy interested in working with couples who don't have someone already in mind. Prices vary depending on officiate.
